

Document A: The Stone Stele

Source: Stone Stele of Hammurabi's Code from the ancient artifact collection of the Louvre Museum in Paris, France (1754 BCE)

Note: The stele, carved from black diorite, stands more than eight feet tall and weighs four tons.

The carving at the top of the stele shows Hammurabi standing before Shamash, the god of justice, who is seated on his throne. Shamash is instructing Hammurabi in the law.

Below the two figures is the Prologue, in which Hammurabi lists the names of the gods, saying that they have given him the right to rule. The Prologue, like the rest of the code, is written in wedge-shaped cuneiform letters that have been carved into the stone.

Below the Prologue, closer to the base, are the 282 laws, organized by theme, including family life, agriculture, theft and professional standards. There are a total of 3,500 lines of writing, covering both sides of the stele.

Detail of the stele carvings

Following the laws in an Epilogue, in which Hammurabi states how the laws should be carried out.

Document B: Epilogue of the Code

Source: Excerpts from the Epilogue of Hammurabi's Code, circa 1754 BCE

... Hammurabi, the protecting king am I... That the strong might not injure the weak, in order to protect the widows and orphans, ... I set up these my precious words, written upon my memorial stone, before the image of me, as king of righteousness.

...By the command of Shamash, the great god and judge of heaven and earth, let righteousness go forth in the land...Let no destruction befall my monument; ...let my name be ever repeated; let the oppressed, who has a case at law, come and stand before this my image as king of righteousness; let him read the inscription, and understand my precious words...

...In future time, through all coming generations, let the king, who may be in the land, observe the words of righteousness which I have written on my monument; let him not alter the law of the land which I have given...

...If this ruler does not esteem my words, ...if he destroys the law which I have given, ...may the great gods of heaven and earth...inflict a curse...upon his family, his land, his warriors, his subjects, and his troops.

Document C: Family Law

Source: Excerpts from Hammurabi's Code, circa 1754 BCE.

Note: There are 282 laws in Hammurabi's Code. The numbers below refer to their order on the stele.

Law 148: If a man has married a wife and a disease has seized her, if he is determined to marry a second wife, he shall marry her. He shall not divorce the wife whom the disease has seized. She shall dwell in the house they have built together, and he shall maintain her as long as she lives.

Law 168: If a man has determined to disinherit his son and has declared before the judge, "I cut off my son," the judge shall inquire into the son's past, and, if the son has not committed a grave misdemeanor..., the father shall not disinherit his son.

Law 195: If a son has struck his father, his hands shall be cut off.
